

iPreFlight Genesis™ Navigator

Focus on Flying, Not Number Crunching

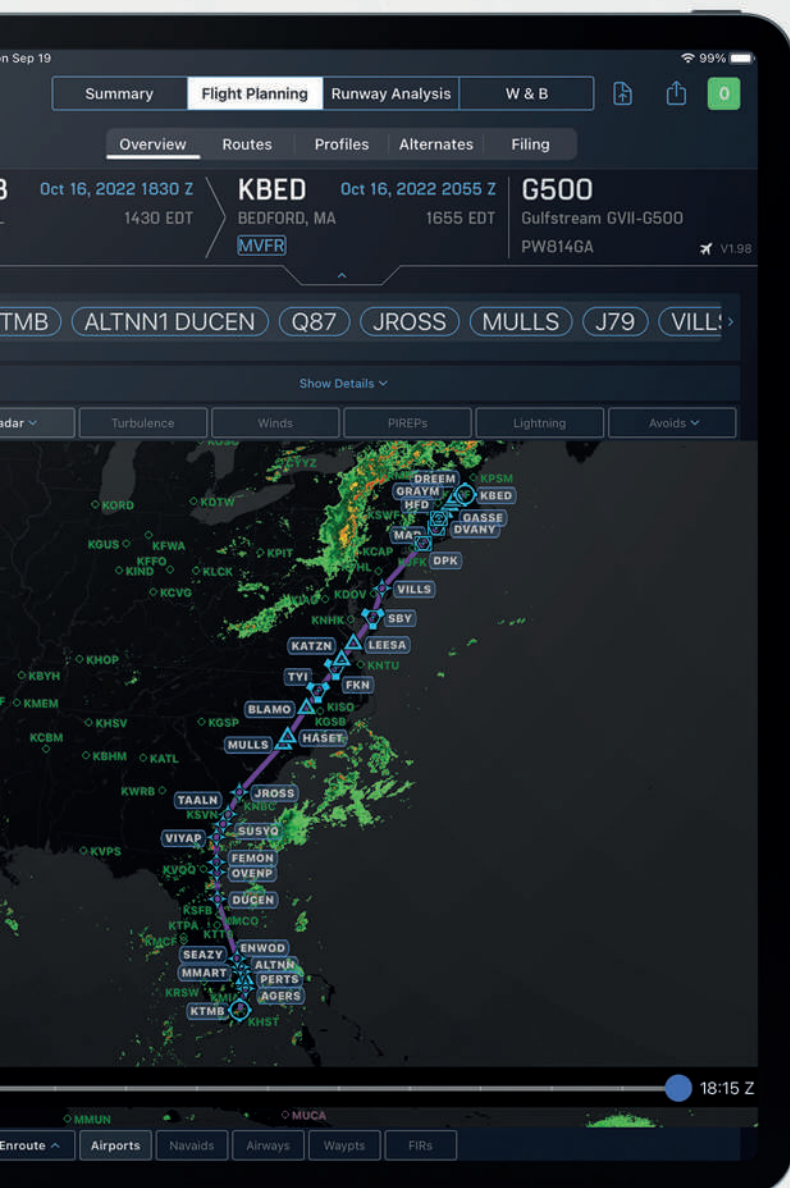

iPreFlight Genesis Navigator, optimized for the iPad, provides integrated calculations tailored to your specific aircraft through a robust and flexible pre-flight planning workflow that includes runway analysis and weight & balance.

An easy-to-use logical flow allows you to work through any sequence that suits your needs. A trip button guides you through questions about planning a trip anywhere, whether you need to make a trip right away or well into the future.

In a matter of seconds, the trip considers passenger and cargo loading and current, forecast or historical weather to optimize performance and help determine if conditions allow for the planned flight.

Approaching departure time, you can easily prepare a flight release, consolidating RWA, WB, flight planning, and weather briefings. The flight release can be emailed, stored on an iPad and shared with other flight crew.
